

Once upon a time, there was a 9-year-old girl named Malaika and her 3-year-old little brother named Kito.

One day, little Kito was playing outside while Malaika was watching him. While playing, Kito accidentally threw a ball at the neighbor's window. The window broke with a loud crash.

Kito immediately started crying because he was afraid.

Malaika knelt beside her little brother and said softly: "Don't be afraid, little Kito."

When the neighbor came outside and saw the broken window, he asked: "What happened here?"

Malaika answered honestly: "Sir, my little brother accidentally broke your window. We are very sorry."

Then Malaika gave her own savings box to the neighbor and said: "You may use my savings to help repair the window."

The neighbor was touched by Malaika's truthfulness and honesty. He said: "Thank you, Malaika. It is beautiful that you practice values truly from your heart."

Question: What would you do if your little brother or sister accidentally broke something?
