🇬🇧 SSSSB Story 072a – The Story of a Child and the Three Mangoes [5–9]

On a sunny day, a child received three ripe mangoes 🥭🥭🥭.

The child thought:

“I will eat one mango now. It is sweet and tasty.”

Then the child looked at the second mango and said:

“I will keep this one for tomorrow.”

Next, the child looked at the third mango and said:

“I will keep this one for the day after tomorrow.”

Later, the child saw a family who had no food and were very hungry.

The child thought:

“Should I give the second mango to the family?

And should I also give the third mango, because there are four people and they are hungry?

Or should I keep the mangoes for myself, because they are very tasty?”

🌟 Question of the day:

What would you do if you were this child?
