STORY 028 SUMAN A BOY WITH A CURIOUS NATURE.

A story about a boy from 7 with a curious nature, what make him an attentive and careful listened person.

Value: Truth Sub-Value: Curiosity

Goal & Moral of today's story:

Curiosity is a good quality because it can help us to focus easier.

This story is also about to be more respectful to Mother Earth

PART 1: SUMAN A BOY WITH A CURIOUS NATURE.

In one of the schools there was studying a boy named Suman. He was Seven years old was in grade UKG. He was with his parents living in a small village. His parents had a small vegetable shop for earning. Both parents were working in their own shop. His parents were devotee of the God and always they pray to the God about welfare of the whole world. Always he sees these activities of the parents and he also became a lover of the nature. Day by day his behavior changed in a positive way.

Part 2: SUMAN'S BEHAVIOUR WAS DIFFERENT THAN OTHERS

Suman's behavior was different from other students. Suman had a curious nature. In the class also he was very attentive and listened carefully to the Teachers (Guru Aama and Guru Buwa). So, he understands everything which the teachers taught in the class and asked the questions related to the topics. Without knowing the topics, he is studying he will never be satisfied. While listening to the story also he raised the questions like: - Who did this? How is it happening? What is this? Because of this type of behaviour, he was the first boy in the class than other students. One day Suman was returning Home from the school thinking that in the class the teacher was taught the lesson about the Earth. He was thinking "The Earth is quite big, and I am small. The teacher said that we should respect and Gratitude to the Earth. How can I respect and Gratitude to the Earth?" While walking he was thinking and murmuring himself, what the teacher was saying in the class. At the same moment his teacher was also coming behind him. When the teacher saw that Suman was staring somewhere, when she saw it, she asked him why you are staring like this. Then Suman said: - "Teacher the Earth is so big, how to express gratitude and love the Earth? How can we do that? That is what I am thinking about." "Here the elder person is also not respecting and loving the Earth. See how much garbage they have thrown on the Earth." Then the teacher said "Yes, Suman you are right." All the elder person can't understand, WE shouldn't think about what we will do. What will they say? If any person will teach the good thing, we should have to accept this. Your teacher has taught you a good thing. The Earth is as a Mother. The protection of our Earth is our duty. You can see The Earth Mother has given us shelter to live, Grains for food, water to drink. Now seeing the plants which have grown on the earth gives us fresh air to breathe. So, we should have to respect the earth Suman. If we can't do something, let's never spread the stink around the earth. Do not throw the garbage around the house. Let save the water which you are getting in your house from the tap. If you can plant the trees you can plant it. So, like this we can respect our earth, the teacher answered. Then Suman said now I understood the teacher. Now I will teach my parents too, Suman's house was near there, so he went to the home and also the teacher went towards her home.
