A flying magic clock that could talk said:

"Sairam, dear SSSSB students, I will give you 2 extra hours every day. You may choose what to do with this time. What would you do with your 2 extra hours?"

The students began to think.

The first student thought:

"I will help my parents."

The second student thought:

"I will play outside with my friends."

The third student thought:

"I will sing and dance."
