📖 SSSSB Story 055b – The Land Without Ministers (for children aged 10 and up)

Once upon a time, there was a land where great unrest reigned.

The king and the queen were urgently looking for three new ministers:

a Minister of Education,
a Minister of Family Affairs, and a Minister of Sports and Games.

But there was one special condition: the new ministers had to be people who had once participated in the SSSSB lessons.

The people of the land set out to search for such persons. They traveled for nine days. Some went on foot, others by bicycle or scooter. Some looked out from the high mountains with binoculars, others traveled by car, motorbike, or even by helicopter or boat.

They searched everywhere... but found no SSSSB class and no SSSSB family member. Disappointed and exhausted, they returned home.

At the palace, the king and queen were already waiting on the balcony. But the people cried out: “Your Majesty, we have searched for nine days, in every corner of the land, but we found no one!”

The king and queen discussed the matter. Then they decided to look further, outside their own land. And so they discovered the names of all the SSSSB family members – and yes, your name was there too!

? Question of the Day

Imagine that you were chosen to become one of these three ministers.
There is enough money available, and you can decide everything yourself!

Minister of Education,
Minister of Family Affairs,
or Minister of Sports and Games.

- 1 ] Which minister would you like to be?
- 2 ] Why would you choose that?
- 3 ] And what rules would you make for everyone in the land?

Think of everyone: babies, children, young people, adults, and the elderly, but also animals and plants.
